

Spooks, Spooks, Spooks: Stories and Poems of the Supernatural By Helen Hoke : I'd definitely recommend this read for young children who can read chapter books: What a did find weird was an excerpt for A Wrinkle in Time: This effectively spoils the book and was a poor decision on the editor's part: 9780701102494 Table of contents:The king and the merman - Leekley T. The tinker of Tamlacht and his bargains with the devil - MacManus S: Spooks Spooks Spooks: Stories and Poems of the Supernatural

[1]

3.5 stars.A lovely little anthology with a very folky authentic feel. The excerpt was the last 2 chapters. D. The devil's thoughts - Coleridge S. T. Witch wood - Bennett A. E.Mungo - Palmer G. and Lloyd N. The hag - Herrick R. The spooky thing - Steele W. O. Jamie's ghost horse - Garthwaite M. The burning ship - Jagendorf M. The black thing - L'Engle M. The battle with the bogles - Leodhas S. N.The ride-by-nights - De la Mare W. The ghostly hitchhikers - Leach M. Caleb Thorne's day - Coatsworth E. The ghost village - Berry E.The shadow people - Legwidge F. Sop doll! - Chase R.The first spell - Lee J.The conjure wives - Wickes F. G.Suppose you met a witch - Serrailier I.The ghosts of the Mohawk - Curtis A. L. The king o' the cats - Jacobs J.Demon at Green Knowe - Boston L. M. Witch girl - Coatsworth E