

Resurrection #4- Horror Series By Tim Curran As they warn everyone of the danger night will bring the Army searches for survivors in a flooded graveyard and the police meet something far worse than the hungry dead something monstrous and mutant. Resurrection #4- Horror Series

Tim Curran lives in Michigan and is the author of the novels Skin Medicine Hive Dead Sea Resurrection The Devil Next Door and Biohazard as well as the novella The Corpse King. Tim Curran lives in Michigan and is the author of the novels Skin Medicine Hive Dead Sea Resurrection The Devil Next Door and Biohazard as well as the novella The Corpse King; On Kneale Street Mitch and Tommy find wisdom in the neighborhood witch and ugly intolerance in the form of a gun-happy old shrew, His short stories have appeared in such magazines as City Slab FleshBlood Book of Dark Wisdom and Inhuman and anthologies such as Shivers IV High Seas Cthulhu and Vile Things. For DarkFuse and its imprints he has written the bestselling The Underdwelling the Readers Choice Nominated novella Fear Me Puppet Graveyard as well as Long Black Coffin. His short stories have appeared in such magazines as City Slab FleshBlood Book of Dark Wisdom and Inhuman and anthologies such as Shivers IV High Seas Cthulhu and Vile Things, For DarkFuse and its imprints he has written the bestselling The Underdwelling the Readers Choice Nominated novella Fear Me Puppet Graveyard as well as Long Black Coffin[1]

The black water continues to rise swamping the city. In it voracious armies of the living dead. Find him on the web at: {site_link} www.corpseking.com. Find him on the web at: {site_link} www.corpseking.com. {site_link}.